GUYS, GUYS: BEHAVE!

In the spirit of ErasmusPlus program, with this project we want to offer new competences, help the flourishing of participants' capabilities, improve friendly relationships and reciprocal esteem between european peoples.

The following rules will help us to achieve these aims:

1. Linguistic understanding

English will be our working language. Not everybody speak English at native level or at a C1 level.

So, let's be patient with others and formulate your sentences as simple as possible.

We use English for reciprocal understanding and not in order to write a new Shakespearean tragedy!

2. (Un)dress code

The framework of our project is nonformal learning.

We don't have a strict dress code and rules of common sense will be sufficient!

Just avoid the two extremes:

- it is summer, but our meeting won't be held on the beach!
- we'll work in University facilities, but we won't defend our PhD thesis!

As Latin used to say: in medio stat virtus.

3. Times and curfew

You will have not limit time to come back in hotel, and you have many pubs and beautiful places to walk close to your accommodation.

So, have fun! But don't forget your guest duties:

- hotel has other customers, and its facilities need to be used properly (you'll pay what you'll broke!!!!)
- the city centre has pubs and clubs, but also inhabitants who must work in the morning and need to sleep during the night!
- you are here to participate at the project. Your punctuality at the activities is requested.

4. Adaptability and cooperation

We'll do everything in our power to offer you the best we can. But, beyond everything, the quality of your vacation will depend on your responsible behave, your adaptability and spirit of cooperation.
